

Bonus is a reward that encourages the client company's proved himself in various competitive events organized by the company. Bonus is credited to the customer and can be used by them according to conditions set by the company. Bonus can be credited to the customer without limitation, may also be credited with certain terms of use. These restrictions may vary from the simple removal of restrictions on the bonus from your account, to the terms of trade, using the bonus. To get the bonus, a trader should be familiar with the bonus actions that are available at the moment and fulfill the conditions that they described. For a list of bonus shares, organized by the company, it is possible in a special section of the site, which focuses on bonuses.