

Completed transaction is a complete cycle of buying and selling the financial instruments of the same size. That is, in the transaction uses two opposite financial transactions that have the ability to complete the action the opposite operation. In the case of the initial opening of a position to buy a financial instrument, the other transaction will be selling her the same amount of financial instrument. After completion of a complete transaction, the deposit is fixed result, which can be either positive or negative - depending on the behavior of the market at the time of the activity of the original transaction. A complete transaction is carried out in any case after the discovery of the original position as the first stage of the transaction. Even if a trader does not close the deal himself, sooner or later it will be closed by the broker in a situation of subsidence of the deposit.