

Open position - currently existing trading position on the sale or purchase of a financial instrument for which has not yet been committed by the other transaction (closing position.) For example, if the position is open to purchase, then the other it will be to implement the operation of the transaction for sale, which ends the current transaction for the purchase. If the position was previously opened for sale by its inverse transaction will be selling the same amount of financial instruments which previously had been sold. Open position - this is part of a complete transaction. When a trader makes it, he takes on certain obligations to close the previously opened positions to the opposite side of the same size, as well as to support the required equity, the amount indicated on the website of the Company as a proportion of the required margin for the opening of the transaction.
