

Forex Trader is a person trading at the Forex market. Trader can be anybody who has studied the basics of trade on international Forex market.

The main activity of trader at Forex market is to analyze the current situation on the market: an analysis of the fundamental factors of the world economy, as well as studying the price chart of the selected financial instrument at the current time. By studying the information, the trader decides to open a trading position of desired amount to get profit.