

Trading volume is the multiplication of the lot on the number of lots that are used when opening a position. The volume of trading is important because it affects the potential gains or potential losses at financial transactions of purchase and sale of the instrument. By increasing the volume of trading you thereby increase your income potential of making deals, but also increases the risk of large potential losses in case of unfavorable market action. It is therefore recommended to gradually increase the volume of trade that you make in order to minimize the risk in accordance with its trading system. It should be noted that the sharp increase in trading. It is very risky tactics of trade, which is not recommended to beginners.